Buddy system

- Inebria launched a buddy system, an initiative meant to help non-English speaking researchers to publish in international journals.
- The buddy system is constituted by senior researchers who volunteer.
- We created a specific section in the Inebria website to apply for it. <http://dss3a.com/inebria/plantilla-new.html>
- Inebria secretariat will receive and review all the requests and it will match them to a suitable experienced reviewer according to the areas of interest/research.

This buddy scheme is set up on a voluntary basis by experienced INEBRIA researchers who have English as their first language and are willing to provide support by editing and reviewing papers before submission to relevant journals in the field.

How can you apply?

We need you to apply by completing the following form and providing some information to properly assign you a volunteer:

- A brief description of the paper in preparation
- 5 key words of the paper
- Journal preferences
- Planned date for paper submission

Inebria 2021. Goa (India)

- Conference postponed to September 22-24, 2021.
- “Setting new directions for brief interventions”:
 - change the way we conceptualize addictions care particularly in low resource settings

INEBRIA Conference
Goa, India

The INEBRIA Coordinating Committee has been monitoring the global COVID-19 situation, and would like to announce that the Conference is being postponed to September 2021.

We are using this opportunity to understand how things evolve and how we can make our Conference more relevant for the times in which we will be living.

See you in 2021!
